29 D. Reading Comprehension. Read the following passages carefully and choose the best option on your answer sheet.

Text 1

As we age, we trade strength for ingenuity, speed for thoroughness, passion for reason. These exchanges may not always seem fair but at every age, there are some advantages. So it is reassuring to note that even if you've passed some of your "primes", you still have other primes to experience in the future. Certain important primes seem to peak later in life. Men are healthiest from 15 to 25 and women from 15 to 30. It is hard to deny the generally greater fitness of women. Life expectancy for men is now 68.3; for women, 75.9 says the aging authority William Kannel, "Older women with low blood pressure are practically immortal". However, psychologists believe that by entering the competitive job market in increasing number, women may eventually give up their statistical advantage.

The word "As" in Line 1 is closest in meaning to "as" in -----.

☐ a. As I was leaving, the phone rang.
☐ b. He works as a waiter.
☐ c. I don't play football as much as I used to.
☐ d. As he worked hard, he reached success.
☐ e. با آنکه کهنه باقیست

More and more studies are finding that certain foods, spices, and other household staples provide effective relief from common health problems. In fact, many physicians, concerned about the overuse of antibiotics and the trend toward treatment overkill for even minor medical problems, are recommending these simple cures. And patients are more than willing to give them a try, considering today's soaring medical costs and shrinking insurance coverage. The treatments here are more than just folklore—all of them come from decades of experience, and many even boast the kind of scientific credentials usually reserved for prescription medicines.

Which two words are almost synonymous in this paragraph?

☐ a "soar" and "drink"

☐ b "overkill" and "overuse"

☐ c "test" and "boost"

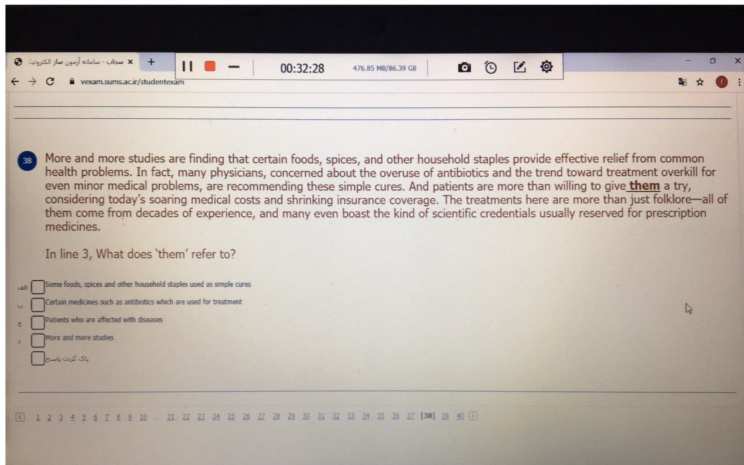

☐ d "coverage" and "credential"
